

Take urgent action to combat climate change and its impacts New big climate questions of today and tomorrow GenerationOne, launched by UCL in 2021, is turning science and ideas into climate action to help create a positive, fair and progressive future. The campaign

Sessions for schoolchildren raise awareness of the climate crisis sets community UCL is addressing the climate crisis through its diverse research and operational teaching and operational

. The ClimateHub also demonstrates how the university intends to be a net-zero institution by 2034

o-carbon

Accurate 3D maps of forests are helping scientists assess carbon stores

Accurate 3D maps of forests are helping scientists assess carbon stores

Accurate 3D maps of forests are helping scientists assess carbon stores

Accurate 3D maps of forests are helping scientists assess carbon stores

Accurate 3D maps of forests are helping scientists assess carbon stores

Accurate 3D maps of forests are helping scientists assess carbon stores

Accurate 3D maps of forests are helping scientists assess carbon stores

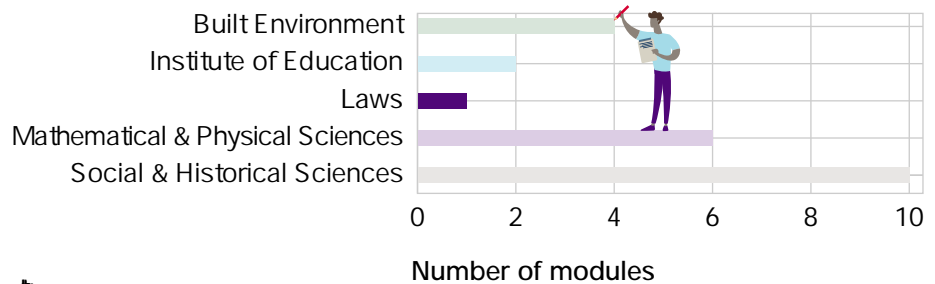

Accurate 3D maps of forests are helping scientists assess carbon stores

Accurate 3D maps of forests are helping scientists assess carbon stores

Accurate 3D maps of forests are helping scientists assess carbon stores

Taught modules at UCL supporting SDG13 in 2021-22

UCL faculty

Accurate 3D maps of forests are helping scientists assess carbon stores

Accurate 3D maps of forests are helping scientists assess carbon stores

Investigating connections between public health and climate change

30.7%

of UCL's SDG13-related publications are in the top 10% most cited for all research of similar papers in 2016–20

Source: UCL Library Services

66.1%

of UCL's SDG13-related research publications are international collaborations, 2016–20

Source: UCL Library Services

DISCOVER MORE

UCL Library Services
UCL Library Services
UCL Library Services
UCL Library Services